24 năm trước, khi chúng tôi đến Việt Nam, Hải Phòng khi đó vẫn là một thành phố cảng đang ngủ quên.

An aerial photograph showing a modern port town. A large, multi-lane roundabout is the central feature, surrounded by a network of roads and modern buildings. The town is built along the riverbank, with various structures and a network of roads visible. The water is a muddy brown color.

When we arrived in Vietnam 24 years ago,
Haiphong was a quaint river port town.

An aerial photograph of Haiphong, Vietnam, showing a dense urban landscape with numerous high-rise buildings and a large body of water in the foreground. The water is a deep blue-green color, and there are some green spaces and smaller buildings along the waterfront. The text is overlaid on the image in white, bold font.

Chúng tôi đã có cơ hội được chứng kiến quá trình Việt Nam tăng dần động lực phát triển, và thành phố Hải Phòng cũng đã trở thành cửa ngõ kết nối Việt Nam với thế giới.

We have had a first-row seat watching Vietnam gaining momentum to grow and Haiphong city becoming a gateway connecting Vietnam to the world.
